FOREWORD

Josateki Tuivanuavou Nawalowalo
CHAIRMAN KADAVU PROVINCIAL COUNCIL

I am pleased to present the province of Kadavu's Strategic Development Plan (KSDP) for 5 years, beginning 2007 to 2012.

Kadavu has steered into a new direction and is now focusing on people centred development. This means that the people who will be directly affected by the plan, participated in the production of this Strategic Development Plan (SDP). In May last year, at its meeting held in the chiefly village of Tavuki, Partners in Community Development Fiji (PCDF) was asked to assist the province to develop a five year development plan, using community appropriate tools of engagement to gauge what people were actually saying and what they needed.

With funding from NZAid, through Foundation for the Peoples of the South Pacific International (FSPI) and contribution in kind from the Province, PCDF along with key facilitator Adi Laufitu Malani (who at that time was a Senator) conducted a week long workshops at Tavuki with 71 turaga ni koro representing villages and settlements within Kadavu. Data from the workshops was compiled with reports from the Commissioner Eastern, Ministry of Health, schools, tikina and village councils. So in May this year, the groups findings were presented to the Kadavu Provincial Council with a draft framework for a 5 year development plan, which was approved by the chiefs and the Provincial Council.

In response, Kadavu will focus its development on the following 7 key areas:

- 1) Promote good governance at all levels
- 2) Reduce inaccessibility by working with government and other partners to build new roads, jetties and airport to assist social and economic advancement and enhance public services such as health and education.
- 3) Fight increasing life style diseases like HIV/Aids.
- 4) Promote education and community support.
- 5) Improve water supply with government support
- 6) Reduce substandard housing
- 7) Promote and protect environmental conservation, ecotourism and disaster / risk management.

The plan we are about to embark on is just the beginning of a 5 year journey for the people of Kadavu. To make it a reality, we need the partnership of the Government, NGOs, regional and international donors for financial, technical and other forms of assistance. We also acknowledge the role played by our commercial business entity, Kadavu Development Company (KDC) and its subsidiary Kadavu Holdings Limited in successfully building the new Kadavu House valued at $18million and their plans to invest more into real estate development and shipping in the future. KDC will be the source of development funds for the province. However, most of all, the Will of the people of Kadavu will determine our destiny. We must all take ownership of this strategic development plan.

Last but not least, I would like to acknowledge the kind assistance of the Commissioner Eastern Office to provide a Rest House at Vunisea, as an income generating initiative for our Soqosoqo Vakamarama, a project that will assist our women folk address their development needs. I would also like to acknowledge the team tasked with this project who readily gave up their time and skills to help PCDF develop the SDP.

Finally, I would like to end by echoing the words of the chiefs of Kadavu as follows; "...Our forefathers left a legacy for the present generation. Hard work and perseverance were not new to us and that Fijis current situation challenged our integrity..... Chiefs must lead by example and have faith in God to take the leading role." Powerful words of wisdom indeed, as we honour the past, learn from the present and with God as our Captain, guide us to achieve our vision of, "Ko Kadavu me Vanua Bula Sautu," interpreted as "Kadavu be a Fountain of Wealth and Prosperity."

ABOUT KADAVU IN BRIEF

Osipate Tuicakau,
ROKO TUI KADAVU

According to an early description, (Domodomo, Fiji Museum, J.P. Thomson), the people of Kadavu are "...vivacious, kind, obliging, courteous and hospitable ...sense of justice, and discourage acts of dishonour". "... ..keen traders and like to obtain full value for their goods, ...petty quarrelling, jealousy, division, and dissension are uncommon..."

Today, the harmonious relationship between the chiefs of Kadavu and impressive achievements by her many sons and daughters on the island, other parts of Fiji and the world, indicate, most of the virtues described above are probably still very much alive in the heart and soul of a Kadavu native, regardless of residential status.

Kadavu is the home of the beautiful shining parrot, 'prosopeia splendens', (kaka in Kadavu dialect) an endemic species for the province.

Kadavu island with an area of 408km is the fourth largest island in the Fiji Group. The island is located 96km south of Suva (on mainland, Viti Levu), lying approximately at latitude 19 S.

Kadavu is of volcanic origin being the product of deposition from at least 12 volcanic centres. The most prominent of these is Nabukelevu (Mt Washington) rising to 838m at the island's westernmost extremity.

Kadavu is 58km long and 14km wide at its broadest. Kadavu lies across the direction of the south-east trade wind with the southern shore to windward so that the south side of the island is more exposed with higher rainfall than in the north. Kadavu has a number of satellite islands, the largest of which is Ono.

Informal census figures obtained recently (November 2007) from the Bureau of Statistics indicate Kadavu's population at 9,438. The slight drop from the 1996 census at 9,535 could have several indicators but key amongst these would be the 'rural to urban pull', as people leave the island for quality education services and other opportunities available on Viti Levu.

Kadavu, and its satellite islands are a province in their own right. Under the Fijian administration, there are 9 "tikina" (districts); Tavuki, Naceva, Nabukelevu, Nakasaleka, Ono, Yawe, Yale, Ravitaki and Sanima. There is a total of 88 'yavusa' (clans) in Kadavu. Tavuki has the most number at 20, while Nabukelevu has 10, followed by the other districts. Of the total number of 75 registered villages; Tavuki has 11, Naceva 10, Nabukelevu 11, Nakasaleka 12, Ravitaki 7 Sanima 6, Yale 5, Yawe 6 and Ono 7.

Culturally, Kadavu has strong links with Viti Levu. Historic references indicate that parts of the province have past association with Tongan people.

Kadavu contains several features of heritage significance. Currently there are several community development interventions in place to conserve and protect Kadavu's terrestrial and marine resources.

For example, the National Trust for Fiji plays a major role in the protection of Kadavu's 'Kaka'. In addition, of the 58 'qoliqoli' (traditional fishing ground) in the province, 52 are declared 'tabu', or marine protected areas (MPA), by its chiefs.

Much of this achievement is due to the work of the Kadavu Yaubula Management Komiti, made up of the local communities, the Provincial Office, Government, and the FLMMA (Fiji Locally Marine Managed Areas), and the dedication of some of Kadavu's urban based sons and daughters who generously share their expertise, time and resources for the good of the province.

It is also fair to mention other community development work facilitated by government agencies, the Kadavu Soqosoqo Vakamarama, other groups, the church based organisations and the country wide known KANA Project (a schools nutrition) that was implemented by the Foundation for the Peoples of the South Pacific (FSP) Fiji, now Partners in Community Development Fiji (PCDF).

PCDF's community governance work, called People and Policy is being piloted in the Tikina of Yale, a district that is most challenged with accessibility. Conditions are so difficult that some of the villages are almost 'empty' as families leave for urban Suva to look for better education facilities and other services for their children.

The latest village profile collated by Partners in Community Development Fiji (PCDF) indicate that much of the income of Kadavu is derived from land and sea, in particular the sale of yaqona, dalo and fish. The biggest challenge though to maintaining a fair percentage of the profit for domestic livelihood is the high cost of transportation and communication because of underdeveloped infrastructure.

But, Kadavu is aware of this, and addressing her challenges, by working closely with the Government and other stakeholders apart from her own resources, to ensure a spiritually and physically strong community.

THE PROCESS

Acknowledgment

In putting together the Strategic Development Plan (SDP) for Kadavu Province, the following key strengths were noted:

- A receptive Provincial Chairman with an open door policy ready to discuss any new issue of concern raised;
- A dedicated Roko Tui (Chief Executive Officer), who was consistent in his approach to the workings of the SDP for Kadavu;
- The help of the following Kadavu professionals who did not hesitate to share their time, knowledge and expertise in helping put together the SDP; Alifereti Tawake, Isoa Korovulavula, Rota Lenati, Silika Tuivanuvou, Noa Tokavou, Ilaitia Tamata, Asenaca Masi Ravuvu, Ratu Samuela Nawalowalo, Emasi Qovu & Tanya Waqanika;
- The Ra Provincial Development Committee and Adi Laufitu Malani who in the midst of her busy office as Senator in the Upper House, shared her time and expertise in leading the Turaga Ni Koro workshop for all villages and settlements in Kadavu, held in Tavuki in May 2006;
- Other stakeholders without whose assistance, the plan would not have been developed in such a manner, the Soqosoqo Vakamarama Kadavu, the Commissioner Eastern and Provincial Administrator Kadavu, the Ministry for Women, Social Welfare and Housing, and Partners in Community Development Fiji (PCDF);
- My relatives at Natumua Village, Tavuki and other parts of Kadavu and family and friends, who provided insight into Kadavu as a province.

Background

Informal sources observe, Partners in Community Development Fiji (PCDF), is one of the biggest national Non Government Organisation (NGO), not only in Fiji but also in the Pacific (excluding Australia and NZ) working in the area of community development. PCDF focuses on the two thematic areas of; Human Resource Development and Natural Resource Management. PCDF is registered under the Charitable Trust Act (Cap 67). PCDF began as the Foundation for the Peoples of the South Pacific (FSP) Fiji in 1979 and one of its commonly known project is the KANA Project, a schools nutrition initiative in partnership with the Government. At present, PCDF has 3 programmes plus 5 projects that receive funding support from various donors in Europe, USA, Australia, New Zealand and Fiji (ATH Vodafone & Shangri-La's Fijian Resort). There are also local supporters such as the Government, Archdiocese of Suva, the Diocese of Polynesia, Provincial Councils, Mamanuca Hoteliers Association, Mamanuca Environment Society, Nacula Tikina Tourism Association (NTTA) & Dick Smith's operations.

Ra Province (one of 14 provinces in Fiji) was hailed in early 2006 as the first province to produce its Strategic Development Plan using community appropriate participatory tools. PCDF was key facilitator in assisting Ra produce its SDP. This reputation earned by PCDF gained recognition by the Kadavu Provincial Office, which asked PCDF to present its work to the Provincial Council meeting that was held in Tavuki Village in March 2006. The Provincial Council then asked PCDF to draft a Strategic Development Plan using a similar process used by PCDF to the Ra Plan.

Kadavu Key Areas Of Focus And Other Issues To Note For Development

1. Based on the Provincial Administrator Kadavu's Report, Kadavu based schools and the Ministry of Health, the Provincial Office and a survey by PCDF of 60 villages and settlements in Kadavu, the key areas of concern to Kadavu: are;
 - (1) Poor communal governance,
 - (2) Inaccessibility,
 - (3) Water,
 - (4) Lifestyle disease,
 - (5) Non priority for education and
 - (6) Sub-standard housing.

However an emerging development initiative that some areas in Kadavu are already working on and would need special attention because it has great potential is eco-cultural tourism;

2. Five (Yale, Sanima, Nakasaleka, Ravitaki & Tavuki) of nine Tikina in Kadavu display poor communal governance. Most villages note confusion of role, landuse problem, lack of solesolevaki and conflict;
3. Nearly all villages and settlements have rules in place for use of alcohol, and marijuana;
4. Most villages have rules for teitei and qoliqoli;
5. Most villages have rules for study time, yet pre-school facility received high priority ranking by the Provincial Administrator Kadavu;
6. All Tikina (except Nakasaleka & Naceva) note insufficient and unreliable water supply because of underdeveloped infrastructure and increasing number of consumers;
7. High blood pressure, poor nutrition and diabetes are common in Kadavu;
8. There is an increase on reported mental ill-health;
9. There is generally substandard housing in Kadavu;
10. Lack of road, communication, jetties and boats limit access to the market, health and other public services for the following Tikina; Yale, Yawe, Ono, Nakasaleka, Nabukelevu and Naceva;
11. Despite inaccessibility, earning cash is not a tikina problem. Much of monies received are from the sale of agriculture and marine products. And, used for village development, church, vanua and education;
12. Given Kadavu's natural beauty, there is potential for the development of eco-cultural tourism. But more importantly, there needs to be dedicated aggressiveness to youth development, to prepare them for the future.
